

Appendix: Fulbrights awarded to students from other institutions

These are schools that (for the most part) are on par with us in terms of ranking, academic and resource profile, etc. Some of these schools are definitely more challenged than we are on these measures – which may make their success in Fulbright awards instructive. We’ve not included the very top liberal arts institutions (e.g., Amherst, Grinnell, Smith, Williams), as their student and resource profiles are very different from ours.

Midwestern peers are highlighted in green; benchmark schools are highlighted in yellow.
